Evaluating and Monitoring Innovation

Program Monitoring for New Initiatives

The evaluation department plays a key role in the development of program monitoring frameworks that guide implementation of innovative interventions at Thresholds. Department staff play a key role in the design, data collection and reporting and utilize result, outcome and impact indicators to observe program progress towards its final objectives. A promise of program monitoring is to assess whether activities are implemented effectively and efficiently, if program targets are met, to establish accountability and determine if program activities are sustainable and cost-effective.

Our current monitoring projects include:

- Medication Management Program for Smoking Cessation: Rutgers Division of Addiction Psychiatry
