NOTES

The image shows a template for notes. It consists of a solid blue header bar at the top, followed by a series of alternating light blue and medium blue horizontal bars. These bars are arranged in a repeating pattern, creating a grid-like structure for writing notes. The bars are uniform in width and height, and they span the entire width of the page.

Happy New Year!

At Thresholds, we recognize that mental and physical health are equally important parts of overall recovery and well-being. In support of our mission to promote health and wellness as cornerstones of mental health recovery, function, and community participation, we have developed this calendar for the Thresholds community. With a focus on health literacy and health activation, the calendar highlights areas where we see the impact of social determinants of health, notes health disparities that affect the mental health community, and is mindful of the intersection of health and diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Throughout the calendar you will see Health and Wellness Tips and QR codes (similar to this one).

You can use your smart phone to access the QR code link for more information about featured health topics, awareness campaigns, and simple health literacy materials. On the next page, we have included the instructions on how to use QR codes.

This calendar is brought to you by the Thresholds Health Literacy Center at the Research Department: Anabel Ruiz, Carla Elliott, Tovah Lieberman, Karley Nelson, Nicole Pashka and Lisa Razzano. Thank you to Mary Blaney-Rychener and the team from Clinical Best Practices, Sheila O'Neill, and our colleagues across the agency who provided input and suggestions for this health literacy and awareness tool.

Wishing everyone all the best in 2023!

How to Scan Quick Response (QR) Codes

You can use your smartphone to access information on the internet using a QR code icon like this one:

STEP 1:

Make sure you have an internet connection to Wi-Fi or through your phone carrier. The QR code will use the internet to bring you to the website.

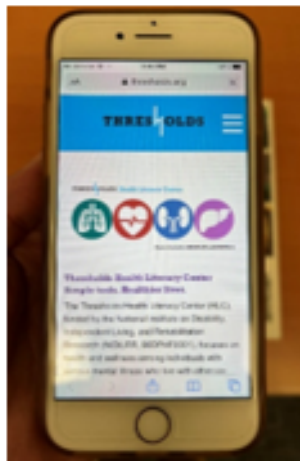

STEP 2:

Open your camera* and point your device at the QR code until a banner or message appears on your screen. Tap on the link.

STEP 3:

The website will appear on your screen within seconds.

If you have a phone model that cannot scan with a camera, you can download a free QR code reader app such as Google Lens or Kaspersky QR Scanner.

Health Tip: Lower Salt Intake with DASH

Your body needs a little bit of salt every day for the sodium it contains. Too much sodium can boost blood pressure and stress the heart and blood vessels. The low-sodium Dietary Approaches to Stop Hypertension (DASH) diet is high in fruits, vegetables, and whole grains; moderately high in nuts and low-fat dairy products; and low in red and processed meats.

“HEALTH IS A HUMAN RIGHT. NO ONE SHOULD GET SICK AND DIE JUST BECAUSE THEY ARE POOR, OR BECAUSE THEY CANNOT ACCESS THE HEALTH SERVICES THEY NEED.”

Dr Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, Director-General WHO

“Health is the most important thing and we do not realize it until we lose it. Let us take good care of it.

Happy World Health Day.”

1. Stay as active as possible. Some physical activity is better than none.
2. Attend regular appointments with your health care provider and follow your recommended treatment plan.
3. Lose excess weight and stay at a healthy weight.

HIV testing is an act of self-care. According to the CDC, encouraging people to get tested and know their HIV status can help them stay healthy. Today, there are more free, easy, fast, and confidential HIV testing options available than ever before. Testing, including self-testing, is the first step to engaging in HIV prevention or treatment services. HIV testing is a critical tool to helping us end the HIV epidemic in the United States.

EATING TO REDUCE INFLAMMATION

Inflammation can be a symptom of many chronic diseases. Certain foods can help the body reduce inflammation. You may choose to follow an anti-inflammatory diet. Eating too much of certain foods may increase inflammation. If you have chronic inflammation, you may feel better if you avoid the inflammatory foods below.

GOOD EATS (ANTI-INFLAMMATORY)

- Tomatoes
- Oils - specifically extra virgin olive oil
- Leafy green vegetables (spinach, kale, collards)
- Nuts (almonds, walnuts)
- Fatty fish (salmon, tuna, sardines)
- Fruits (blueberries, strawberries, cherries, oranges)
- Turmeric

BAD EATS (INFLAMMATORY)

- Refined carbohydrates (white bread, white rice, pastries)
- Fried foods (french fries)
- Sugary drinks (soda)
- Red meat (burgers, steak) processed meats (hot dogs, sausage)
- Margarine, shortening, and lard

RECIPE: CAPRESE SALAD

Ingredients:

- 3 vine-ripe tomatoes, 1/4-inch thick slices
- 1 pound fresh mozzarella, 1/4-inch thick slices
- 20 to 30 leaves (about 1 bunch) fresh basil
- Extra-virgin olive oil, for drizzling
- Coarse salt and pepper

Directions:

1. Layer alternating slices of tomatoes and mozzarella, adding a basil leaf between each, on a large, shallow platter.
2. Drizzle the salad with extra-virgin olive oil and season with salt and pepper, to taste.

Health Tip: National Cholesterol Education Month

Everyone can benefit from knowing their cholesterol numbers. Uncontrolled cholesterol is a risk factor for heart attacks and stroke. High cholesterol has no symptoms, you might not know that your cholesterol is too high unless it's measured by a doctor with a blood test. Adults age 20 and older should have their cholesterol levels checked every four to six years.

Health LITERACY! ✓

Your health literacy: 4 ways to be your own best advocate

1. Be an informed healthcare consumer. Keep copies of your health records from all providers you see and share them as needed.
2. Choose providers wisely. When possible, research provider or ask a friends and family.
3. Make use of technology.
4. Seek information and ask questions to better understand.

Health Tip: Breast Cancer has No Gender

Wherever someone falls on the gender spectrum, there's a finite breast cancer risk they need to understand. Many different factors feed into breast cancer risk, including the organs you're born with, the organs you have now, age, lifestyle and personal health history. Now more than ever, there's no one-size-fits-all or even one-size-fits-most approach to breast cancer screening and risk evaluation. When it comes to screening, screen what you've got.

5 Healthy Habits for Diabetes Awareness Month

Add more veggies to your diet

Find an enjoyable exercise routine

Try going to bed an hour earlier

Simplify your diabetes regimen

Utilize blood sugar apps

verywell

November is Diabetes Awareness Month. More than 34 million Americans have diabetes and approximately one in three people in the US are at a high risk of developing type 2 diabetes.

Diabetes is a chronic disease that affects how your body turns food into energy. Diabetes can develop either due to not enough or low-production of insulin or from your body's inability to use the insulin it does produce.

Health Tip: Success on a Journey to Living Smoke-free

1. Quitting is easier a little at a time. Multiple attempts might be needed to even cut back a few cigarettes at a time. No matter how long a person has smoked or how many cigarettes are smoked, quitting smoking now allows lung health to improve and recover.
2. Nicotine Replacement Therapy (NRT) comes in various forms: gum, patch, lozenge as well as forms of medication that can be prescribed. NRT combined with other therapies have the highest success rates.

Immunizations & You

Considerations for Adults with Mental Illness

Immunizations are simple, safe, and effective ways of protecting you against harmful diseases, before you come into contact with them. They use your body's natural defenses to build resistance to specific infections and makes your immune system stronger. Typically, this is done using a vaccine given in the form of a shot.

Access Risk Factors: ARM SHOT

- Age
- Risk of exposure
- Medical Conditions
- Substance use history
- HIV status or other immunocompromised states
- Occupancy, or living arrangements
- Tobacco use
